

Embracing Our Uniqueness

Phoenix Theatre is a year-round, 29-year-old professional company presenting live contemporary theatre in an intimate setting. From recent Broadway hits to undiscovered gems from around the country, we produce emotionally engaging works that are made even more powerful and compelling by the intimacy of our 130-seat Mainstage and our 75-seat cabaret style Frank and Katrina Basile Theatre.

Our relaxed informal atmosphere also makes the theatre a great place to meet friends, sip a glass of wine, and have a great conversation about what you just saw.

It is not by chance that we embrace topics that are happening now. We choose plays that illuminate the human connection; plays that discover some truth about what keeps us separate from each other and how we may learn to be closer. Our performance spaces support and inform our aesthetic.

Where else can you feel the actor's heart beat? See the smallest eye roll? Hear the quietest sigh? Glimpse a bead of sweat above an eyebrow or the most nuanced glance?

The tiniest gesture can mean the biggest moment on stage: joy, tension, fear, love, hate... and we embrace every detail of every moment in our 2011-2012 Season.

The joy and fear of Spring Awakening...

The overwhelming sadness and bright promise of Jericho...

The cheer and angst of every holiday in A Very Phoenix Xmas...

The scary and hilarious journey that is moving back home in Current Economic Conditions...

The tragedy and triumph of living with our family in August: Osage County...

The heart and humor of two great minds in Freud's Last Session...

The faith and forgiveness of unconditional love in Next Fall...

The dark comedy and humanity of one person trying to save the world in With A Whimper...

Don't miss a single detail.

The Phoenix Theatre
749 N. Park Ave.
Indianapolis, IN 46202

Our 2011-2012 Season: Life Up Close

